The project will strive to improve upon the City's cycling network, providing dedicated pedestrian and cycling facilities.

In the 2012 Route 90 Transportation Study, a pedestrian overpass was recommended at Lockston Avenue. As part of the 2018 study, an overpass and a street-level crossing are under consideration.

Major roads in Winnipeg can be designed a few different ways. A widened Route 90 will look different than it does now, and could include things like multi-family housing, public spaces, parks, art or other elements of local heritage or neighbourhood character.
